Simon Schweizer advises and represents companies as well as private individuals in the areas of construction and real estate law, commercial and corporate law, and private clients. In addition to his legal education, he also holds a degree in economics and places great importance on both legal and economic aspects in his advice.

Furthermore, Simon Schweizer serves as a Notary in the Canton Basel-Stadt (including in the area of German notarial law) and has extensive knowledge in property law (e.g., real estate purchase contracts, liens, easements), corporate transactions (e.g., formations, capital increases, restructurings, liquidations), and asset and estate planning (e.g., advance directives, wills, marriage and/or inheritance contracts). In addition to his work as a lawyer and notary, he acts as well as an executor.
