Daniel Zimmerli primarily works in antitrust law, general and special administrative law (particularly economic administrative and economic constitutional law), as well as public procedural law. He has in-depth knowledge in areas such as infrastructure (telecommunications, energy, transportation, postal services) and healthcare (especially hospital planning). He is active in litigation, advisory and expert opinion roles.

Daniel Zimmerli studied at the University of Bern (lic. iur. 1998; Dr. iur. 2006) and at the University of Michigan Law School (Ann Arbor, USA; LL.M. 2007). He has worked as an assistant at the Institute for Economic Law at the University of Bern, as a research associate at the Secretariat of the Competition Commission (Infrastructure Services), as a lawyer in a Bern law firm and in the corporate legal department of Swiss Post. For the past approximately 16 years, with a brief interruption, he has worked as a lawyer in a leading Swiss business law firm, most recently as a consultant.

Daniel Zimmerli speaks German, French, and English. He is registered in the bar register.
